

128 business opportunities at MakeUp in Los Angeles next February!

I want my invitation

Did you know...

That the color cosmetics market size in the US is set to grow USD 2.31 billion during 2018-2022 driven by new consumer behaviors, trends and demands. And that 46% of this growth will come from the face makeup segment?

And guess what?

MakeUp in Los Angeles is up to the challenge and will once again be your guide in navigating this increasing and ever-evolving market and show you exclusively all the new trends and innovations, February 11&12 at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

Indeed, the biggest names in the global subcontracting Beauty industry – ranging from Formulation, Packaging, Accessories to Contract manufacturer, Design and Ingredients – had once again answered the call.

Amongst the 128 exhibitors, 38 are joining this year the MakeUp in Los Angeles adventure, with 40% of them offering color cosmetics and skincare products and a majority of the new contract manufacturers coming from Italy!

A new episode recorded during MakeUp in NewYork 2019
Henri Tinchant of Asquan and Stephane Thiollier of Pylote - Partnering for Safety and Hygiene in Beauty

A key player in the cleantech industrial mineral and ceramic chemistry, and an up and coming technology driven company that sources, creates, produces and markets ground-breaking beauty solutions, recently announced a collaboration to provide innovative, cleaner, safer and greener makeup brushes & mascara applicators to cosmetic brands and US consumers. The breakthrough innovation provides natural bacterial and viral contamination protection, giving makeup brushes and beauty accessories an unprecedented level of safety and hygiene as yet unseen in the market. On "Beauty Is Your Business" podcast, Henri Tinchant, President of Asquan, and Stephane Thiollier, Managing Director Business of Pylote, share the inside story on location at MakeUp in NewYork. Host Abby Wallach is joined by guest co-host Deanna Utroske.
